SPECIAL VALENTINE'S ISSUE!

ET,
This Time
I've known love before, it's come and it's gone. For all that it's been, it's never been very long. What always seems to come is goodbye. But I believe in this love, it's not like before...Without you there's just nowhere to go. This time love won't walk out on me. This time I know it's just you and I. And this time, I really believe that I've found love at its best and so now love is forever this!

Yours, M.T.

A ma poulette, ARIELA,
J'ai seulement envie de te dire que je t'aime beaucoup. Je n'oublierai jamis les mercredis et vendredis memorables que nous avons passes ensembles. "Just a little one". Celui qui t'adore et qui pense a toi constament.

MOMY, ton poulet.

A word, a look, a gentle touch, a reassuring smile. A laugh, a cry, a caring kiss, your presence by my side. You're always there to light my day and I cannot forget you.

For you're my baby, you're all mine, and I can't wait to see you, because you know I love you so. You are my little sweetheart.

Yiti-yiti

To Ianly
Vhat? Did did you say friggin' idiots to to me? And and you're on the black list? Well, hap happy Valentine's Day to to you.

Monaly

To the girl with the pub inside her,
For the 3 am dances and the midnight chats. For chicken noodle soup and a shoulder to cry on.

Thanks, love your Roommate.

Dear Crush Recipient:
Alas, t'is a sad day for romance when it is besieged and sabotaged by matters of the pants.

How sorrowful it seems that those hast shattered my dreams with thy tackless use of crudity and obsession with genitality

...in other words bucko -- you blew it.

A disappointed residence resident who forgot Halloween

Hanif
I'll get even if it takes me the rest of my life.

An Admirer

As he walked into the room, Everything stood still, People around me seemed to disappear, And my eyes were on him.

I took in every step he made, And wondered if he knew, That it was by him, That I wanted to be made love to.

Well ten months later, It was mine he became, And the two years he's been in my life, Have never been quite the same.

Baby, I want you now as I wanted you that first day, I need you now as I needed you back in '84, One thing for sure baby, I want you to stay, For I love you now honey as I've never loved you before.

Happy Valentine's Day, love

"Curly"

Bo-Bo-Bear-Valentine:
Hibernating with you is a dream come true!! Let's do the 'honey-thing' again, ok?!? P.S. Your cave or mine?

Boo-Boo-Bear-Valentine
xoxo

To enticing Cords,
For Valentines Day I was going to send you a tall, blue-eyed blonde with large...but Inge was busy. Will you settle for a big hug from a sometimes grouchy, brown-eyed brunette with winking jeans?(Ahumida-humida-humida) RSVP(in person please)
P.S. Happy Valentines Day!

A not so secret admirer xo

Sleepy Bear,
"I love you!!!"

Hugs & Kisses,
Grumpy Bear

To Mr. Wonderful with the curly hair:
When you enter the cafeteria we mystically undress you with our eyes. Our feminine vaginal juices begin erupting with flames of passion. Suddenly we are overcome with burning wet desires. Only you can satisfy our animal instincts. If you think you are man enough to handle all 3 of us, wear a bright YELLOW pullover on Wed. Feb. 12th and/or Thurs., Feb. 13th to confirm that you are 'erect' and 'panting'.

Names Withheld

There was nothing, then ... we met. We looked, we liked, we felt, we touched, we laughed, we cried. Then we laughed again. I'll always love you,

Angela

To the Women in my life,
I LOVE YOU ALL.

Alvin

Ingrid,
How could you lead me on like that. Your sexy talk, your sexy walk, those pink t-shirts. Remember all those afternoons alone in the Pub? After all that I find out you're going out with someone else. I'm sorry now I let you drive me home and take advantage of me. You broke my heart.

I still care

Babe,
It has been a long time since I've felt what Valentine's Day is really like. I've never thought that a single phone call a year ago this Valentine's Day would make a difference. One year went so swiftly, bring so many changes within us, you know what? Time may have changed us, Babe, but what we have shared throughout the year would remain unaltered...timeless. I guess this is an appropriate time to say some things that need to be said: This is for always, Babe-I promise. Ti amo. Love is...a seven and a half hr. conversation over the phone.

Always, Michael

My Dearest Fantasy, Aaron;
How would you like some soft caressing hands to massage you, take your clothes off, bathe you, tuck you into bed, and pamper you like you haven't been in a long, long time!

I've called your mother and she's coming next week!

signed,
bearly bearable

Dear Benjie
I know you're really a sex maniac posing as an Entertainment editor. Did you think you could fool me for more than three years? I saw you at "Better Off Dead" and I wasn't impressed. Maybe its that crazy Deb. Have a wild week. Happy Valentine's Day!

Luv Inkhead

P.S. Happy Birthday!

To Fred L.,
You've been watching me for a long time and I've seen those lustful glances you cast at me.

Why, why, why did you shave your moustache? We could've had so much fun with it.

But it's all over now. It was just another furry fantasy.

But now all that is left are stubbles on the lips of love.

I still want you even barefaced I want you. Don't be shy, just follow those lusting glances to your object of desire.

Signed,
Bare-ly yours

Natalie(I-2),
Aimable et fiere demoiselle,
Vous pouvez compter sur vos traits.
Comme vous, lorsqu'on est si belle
Les amants ne trompent jamais.

M.T.B.

Hey Marv!
Whatever turns your Crank

Bob:
No matter where the path leads...I will always be right there with you.

Here's to the many years ahead full of living, loving and laughing!!!

Happy Valentine's Day!

with all my love,
Jordene

L.S.L.
Happy Valentine's Day! I know you said I owe you two dozen roses. Me being a starving student, you will have to settle for two dozen something else's (over a few nights please)! You know what they say it's better to give than to receive. Look out!

Lots of Love
Soon to be missing you.

To Mom(s) in H-6
Happy Valentine's Day! I'd never forget such wonderful women! I'll make amends for past neglect soon! (I promise).

The Thin Rodent

To my Love Walter
Words can hardly express my love for you and the joy you've brought to me this past year. May we always be as happy as we are now. Remember that "the love that is purest and sweetest has a kiss of desire on the lips." I love you always.

Fiery Seraph XO

DAMMIT JANET

EDITORIAL

$34,000 in the Red

It's an outrage. That's the only way to describe the SCSC budget passed two weeks ago. This year's council has seen fit to pass on $34,000 in debt onto the back of next year's council.

Students at Scarborough campus contribute to Scarborough Council (SCSC) $87,000 in incidental fees a year. This amount, coupled with revenue generated from the Pub and other SCSC services, provides the funds to run council.

The administrative costs of council in the budget this year is about $95,000. This figure exceeds the fees students pay to SCSC by $8,000. The $95,000 is only the administrative costs, the services and activities provided by SCSC commissions is not even included in this figure.

It is quite obvious that this council is spending beyond its means. This year's council has had a difficult year, as well as taking on a number of large and worthwhile projects. In addition, increased off campus competition has reduced the Pub's profits. Council, however, knew of these problems in the summer and should have carefully budgeted its funds. SCSC knew it had to pay fees to be incorporated, and would have to spend some of its funds in preparation for the creation of a new student centre. SCSC should have attempted to control its spending in other areas. A ten thousand dollar loss for an orientation that benefited not many more than 200 students does not make financial sense.

As for the losses faced by the Pub this year, Council has shown no imagination to encourage the majority of Scarborough campus students to frequent the Pub. The Pub will continue to falter if it doesn't face the challenge of Zacks, Marquee, and other off-campus competition with greater publicity and creative new ideas.

Council spending should have been curtailed by this year's Vice-President Finance Rosanne Blake. Blake has, quite simply, not done a good job. It is time Scarborough College politicians learned to take responsibility for their decisions. Unfortunately for the students of this college, the damage is already done, and it will be next year's council that will bear the burden of this year's deficit.

Well, we at the paper had a frolicking good time at the semi-formal last Friday. Hanif, however, had a few touchy situations that night. And Barb, well, she was just touchy.

Meanwhile, it seems that Vangie had her own problems over the weekend on her return from the Quebec Carnival. Not only did her bus break down for eight hours, there was a hoard of Waterloo engineers on it which kept saying "Party, party!".

Paul may be in a little trouble with Silvana. Not only did several members of the staff compliment him on his behind at the Frolic, he missed the deadline for Valentine's submissions. He'd like, however, to tell Silvana that "I still like you."

Once again, the Valentine's messages kept coming in, and coming in, and coming in. If we see one more "Pooky Bear" we'll puke ourselves. That's all folks, you're dismissed.

Lady Jane good cinema

BY KATHRYN PHENIX

Hastily labelling the new British film, Lady Jane (playing at the University Theatre), simply as an "historical drama" would be doing it a great disservice, effectively relegating it to the shelves of high school audio-visual libraries.

On the contrary, this movie is more than just a bare bones account of the orchestation of Lady Jane Grey's legendary nine-day reign as the "usurper Queen of England" in 1553.

Director Trevor Nunn fleshes out believable personalities from behind the dry, one-dimensional biographies, and gives the audience an opportunity to just sit back and enjoy the tale, without being preoccupied with thoughts of a multiple-choice test on historical content to be taken as the final credits roll.

Only a British History major would be able to poke holes in the unfolding storyline.

The heroine, young Jane, is a precocious, petulant child-woman of strong mind and spirit. By way of the calculated removal of branches from the royal family tree (engineered by the politically-astute Duke of Northumberland), Jane attains accesssion to the throne, upon the death of her cousin and kindred spirit, Edward VI.

Yound Edward's imminent demise necessitates the hasty betrothal of Jane to Guilford Dudley, youngest son (and confirmed familial black sheep) of the Duke of Northumberland.

This rogue with a social conscience, and repressed, willful, intellectual Jane would not seem destined for much wedded bliss.

But love, the fickle, inescapable intruder, has its way with them, fanning the sparks of psychological, spiritual, and physical attraction, until they burst into flame, and an unshakeable alliance is formed.

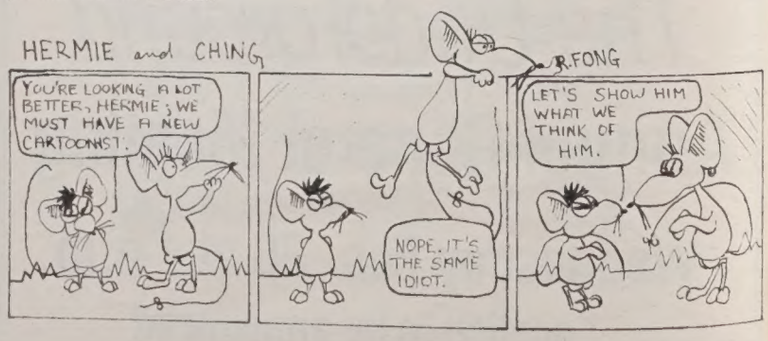
A devout Anglican, Jane is regarded as the protector of the Church of England, in view of the Papal threat posed by her Catholic cousin, Princess Mary.

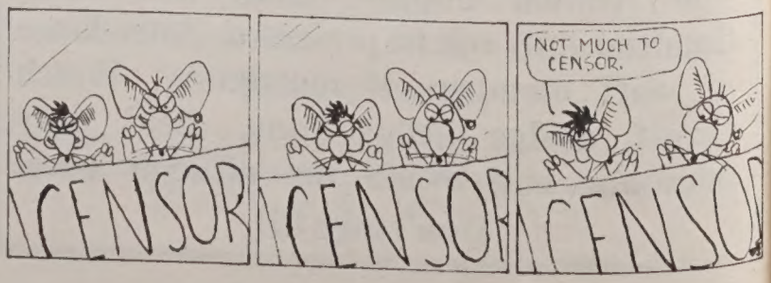
Yet, what she and Guilford proceed to do with their newly-acquired regal power is not exactly what her opponents quite had in mind.

It is difficult to say exactly where literary embellishments have been superimposed on fact, and frankly, it need not be the viewer's primary goal to unearth them.

Lady Jane is entertaining cinema, an educational and reflective look at a time in history dominated by monarchs, many naive about the unspoken intentions of power-mongering politicians, whose personal desires could not be satisfied by the ceremonial nature of their influence.

And with dialogue that is understandable, witty, and full of comical ironies, costumes suitable authentic and lavish, and striking cinematography lending true atmosphere to the plot, Lady Jane is likely as pleasurable a history lesson as you will encounter this term.





NUMBER ONE IN A SERIES

HOW TO CALL FOR THE BLUE.

CONCH SHELL

This technique was first established by residents of the Seychelles Islands who used it to attract passing pods of sperm whales. Each pod, consisting of one or more whales, produced a sufficient wake to permit local residents to host 12 consecutive international surfing championships. More recently, conch blowing has become popular at numerous seaside watering holes where it was found to attract considerably more attention than the more conventional "Excuse me...waiter."

Or flag flapping as it is often called, enjoys considerable popularity among the nautically inclined. Practitioners of this particularly colourful form of communications have reported physical benefits such as an increase in the size of bicep, tricep and pectoral muscles. This has prompted one enterprising manufacturer of sporting equipment to introduce a new product called "Heavy Flags." This means that when calling for a Blue it is now possible to get bent into shape.

TIN CANS WITH STRING

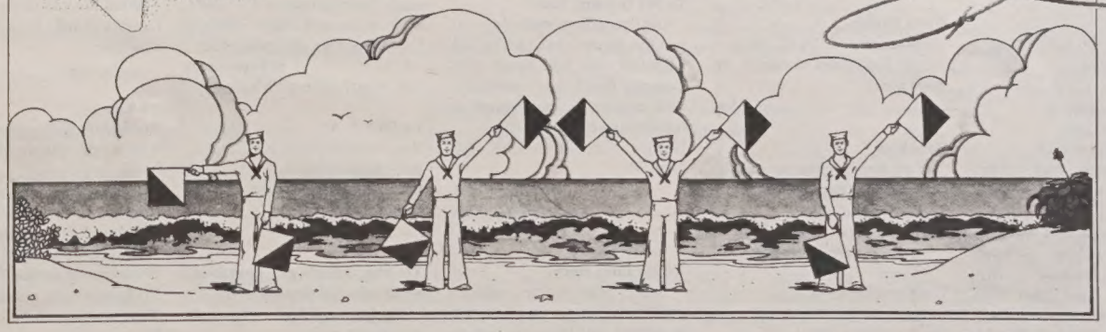
Success with this approach depends largely upon the size of the cans and the length of the string used. Most waiters or waitresses will show some reluctance at the prospect of walking about their establishment with 50 gallon oil drums affixed to their hips. An empty Blue can (preferably of the larger variety) is considered de rigueur. Users should be advised that calls across the bar are cheaper after six and on Sundays.

Important: Many first time users of this proven technique have complained of what is generally referred to as the "Lloyd Bridges or Jacques Cousteau effect." This can be remedied by making sure that cans are completely drained prior to transmitting or receiving messages.



ONE IN A SERIES OF HIGHLY INFORMATIVE PRESENTATIONS AIMED AT HELPING YOU TO BETTER UNDERSTAND THE DIVERSE MEANS IN WHICH IT IS POSSIBLE TO OBTAIN ONE OR MORE BOTTLES OF BLUE, CANADA'S MOST POPULAR BEER. FOR THAT CLEAN, TRUE TASTE.

Mark,
And I thought Gumby had seen the roughest of times over over the Xmas holidays, but after you took that First Aid and CPR course, he became a real guinea pig. I thought he had recovered without any scars, but alas, his eyesight is shot, he splashes about with Corey and Hart, he gets high hanging out in my shoes and just lately he has taken to wearing make-up. How do you like that, a defective Gumby! Happy Valentines Day!
Thoroughly Confused!!!

The fellas of E-1 would like to wish all the girls of residence a happy Valentines Day. We would like to extend an open invitation(to the good-looking girls) to cum and have fun with the boys.

To Helen and Tom,
Hearing about your daily(or rather nightly) 'adventures', shall we say, is a most encouraging reminder that married life is nothing but sex(and an occasional evening of having friends over for videos).
Best of luck to you both, Adri

Mr Capozzi,
'Carrots are divine' and so are you.

Once upon a cuckoo's nest
a girl was found a-flying often found above the rest
a high without trying

Cutting class, sitting on my ass
thinkin' about life, while smoking grass
A girl with a smile stops by Listening to a song, playing in the sky.

Two people, so different, so strange
A beer, a laugh, or even a word
A friend on Valentine's Day
Cirling like a singing bird.

Cut the crap, right?

Hard fought basketball victory

BY NEIL WINTON

The Men's "B" basketball team actually got to play a home game last Tuesday night, and they made the most of it by posting a hard fought 43-40 win over a determined Devonshire team.

Both clubs put in a very strong defensive efforts on this night. Scarborough's tough inside defence allowed their guards to put in a lot of pressure on the Devonshire ballhandlers.

Although Scarborough got into some foul trouble through this press, it also resulted in many steals that led to some easy layups. Devonshire's very tall line-up successfully clogged the inside and, when Scarborough did manage to get the ball inside, blocked many of Scarborough's shots.

The first half was a close fought period. Devonshire never had the lead, but were not down by more than four points.

Scarborough got many of their points off the Devonshire turnovers, and from some good outside shooting. On the other hand, Devonshire scored many of their points inside and from short-range shots. Scarborough led at the first half 20-18.

At the start of the second half, the Dukes tied the score at 22, but that was as close as they could get.

Scarborough soon opened up a five point lead. They extended this lead to nine points with only three minutes left in the game.

Devonshire then scored six straight points to close the gap to three, but good medium-range shooting by Scarborough held off their opponents comeback.

Scarborough's starting five players all had good games as they played the majority of the game. Forward Greg Nicholson, playing his first game in a many weeks, grabbed several key rebounds, played a very physical game, and had a team high 12 points scored.

Guards Paul McIntyre (12 points) and Lionel Carter (4 points) played extremely well, creating turnovers on defence, running Scarborough's offence and breaking Devonshire's attempt at a half-court trap.

Centre Karl Brand (3 points) again played all 40 minutes and provided some good defensive work. Forward Frank Sakelaris (6 points) hit a couple of key jump shots to help Scarborough preserve the victory.

Scarborough's win was a very satisfying one. It was their eighth straight win and it snapped Devonshire's three game winning streak. The game was a good test for the team as they prepare for the fast-approaching playoffs.

Scarborough's record now stands at 8 wins and 3 losses, with one more game to be played. Despite having a different roster this year, their chances of repeating as "B" division champs are looking brighter with every game.

Hockey ties and loses

BY JOE SPROULE

It seems it is an annual event that Scarborough Men's "A" hockey team loses one game a year to New College.

The trend continued when Scarborough, undefeated at the time (10-0-2), lost to New College by a score of 4-2. The goal scorers for Scarborough were Mark Grant and Mark Simpson.

Scarborough played their worst game of the season. It may have been attributed to Scarborough looking too far ahead to the Engineering game which was to follow.

Scarborough's next game against Engineering was the most important to them, in terms of the standings. The second place Engineers were only one point behind the Scarborough squad.

Scarborough, with only a few returning players from last year's team, had to be prepared for a tough, physical game against the Engineers.

The game was played at St. Mike's Arena, which has a smaller ice surface than Varsity Arena, where the games are usually played. This made it even tougher on the players.

Scarborough opened the scoring in the first period, while killing a penalty. Right winger Mark Simpson scored by beating the goaltender inside the far post.

First period action resulted in Scarborough taking five minor penalties in a row, which seemed hard to believe because Engineering were playing with similar tactics and apparently getting away with it.

On the power play, Scarborough penalties took a toll on them and Engineers tied the score. The first period ended with a 1-1 deadlock.

Scarborough coach Randy Thomas said he's seen Scarborough teams play hockey for four years, and that "the first period played by this year's club was the best ever."

Second period action was characterized by the same tight checking and continuous hard hitting action. While Scarborough was on the power play, Engineers stole the puck from an errant pass and scored.

Goaltender Tom Hands, along with the Engineer's goaltender, both played outstanding games by thwarting the opposition on many chances.

With Scarborough trailing 2-1, coach Thomas put in Gary Soper along with Jim Stoddart and Simpson. This move paid off as Simpson spotted Soper in the slot and Soper's quick release found room between the legs at the 18 minute mark of the final period.

That was the last goal of the game, as it ended in a 2-2 tie.

Outstanding performances were put forth by John Lyon, Craig Deasley and Steve Barret, who used their size to good advantage.

Athlete of The Week

The continued success of athletics at Scarborough campus will depend on students like Chris O'Brien. He is member of the Varsity Golf team as well as a member of Scarborough's "A" division hockey team.

The former student of Senator O'Conner High School was the only freshman on the U of T golf team. Chris put in two strong rounds at the O.U.A.A. semi-final tournament at Hamilton last month.

His play helped the team qualify for the finals held at Guelph, where he shot 76 in each round. O'Brien's fine play will help keep the team competitive for the next couple of years.

Though golf is unquestionably his favorite sport, Chris is also a fine hockey player.

His physical play has earned him the praise of "A" team coach Randy Thomas, "Chris is a really solid defenceman and a good choice for Athlete of the Week."

Chris is also involved in "A" division ball hockey. He feels his team, The Bush Pigs, will be the team to beat in the coming years. The team is made up of a dedicated group of first-year swines.

Being in his first year, we could hardly expect Chris to have his mind made up on any definite lifetime ambition.

However, he does not rule out the possibility of pursuing a career in golf instruction. His initial inspiration to pick up the clubs came from his father and both are members at Whitevale Golf and Country Club. Chris enjoys playing in tournaments throughout the city during the summer.

The Underground and Beaver Foods, sponsers of Athlete of the week, salute Chris O'Brien.
